

2007 TARRICA WINE CELLARS ZINFANDEL • Paso Robles

Ripe berry flavors wrapped with cedar box and caramel tones. The body is full with balanced tannins and berry fruit carries long into the finish revealing creme brulé nuances.

FOOD RECOMMENDATIONS

Serve this wine with a wide range of cuisine including grilled meats, pastas, salmon, lobster and pork chops. Bring this wine to a barbecue or let it compliment your favorite pizza.

Tarrica Wine Cellars aged this Paso Robles Zinfandel in a combination of new and seasoned American and French Oak barrels for 16 months.

VINEYARDS

Tarrica Wine Cellars sources grapes primarily from the Paso Robles viticultural area, which is ideally situated for growing premium varietal wine grapes. Nestled slightly inland, the warm, clear days are insulated from clouds, fog, and severe winds so sufficient heat reaches the grapes. Following sunset, a marine layer moves over the region and cools temperatures approximately 50 degrees, providing conditions conducive to maintaining outstanding acid structure and overall balance.

Most consider this fluctuation to be a key component to the varietal character displayed in the resulting wines.

Tarrica Wine Cellars is a small, family owned winery started in 2000 in the Paso Robles Wine Country. The focus of our winery is to produce value priced wines that are a clear expression of viticultural origin and varietal flavor.

The winery released its first bottled wine in April of 2003. Our wines are available at selected restaurants, markets, and wine shops located on California's Central Coast, and in the San Francisco Bay Area, Southern California, Nevada, Colorado, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Texas, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Massachusetts, North Carolina and South Carolina, Missouri, Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana.
